Members:

American Peony Association

We cordially invite you to visit our Nurseries at West Newbury and Newburyport where, for over one hundred years, the Cherry Hill Nurseries have been engaged in the growing of fine plants and trees. This long experience enables us to supply you with strong hardy plants that are sure to thrive in our rugged New England climate. Both Nurseries are located on improved roads easily accessible the year around.

If impossible to visit the nursery, we invite you to order by telephone or mail. We use the greatest possible care in the selection of all stock and we will gladly pay return charges and replace any stock not satisfactory if notified within five days after arrival of goods.

We are always glad to have customers order stock at the nursery where it can be seen, but cannot dig orders while the customer waits to take them. We will gladly tag and reserve special plants if the type and size wanted is other than the usual nursery run, but as orders through the spring are promised several days in advance most of the time, it will be necessary to dig them in rotation as ordered and either hold them to be called for or to be delivered by our trucks. This is necessary as it is hardly fair to delay orders taken at an earlier date.

The above does not apply to Perennials, Roses, Fruit trees or any of the various shrubs or evergreens that we often have dug ahead and ready to ship.

During the spring planting season, our Nurseries are open from 7:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. every weekday. No orders can be dug Sundays, but visitors are welcome from 10:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. and orders may be left for later delivery. The balance of the year we are open from 8:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. Closed Saturdays and Sundays.

For Conditions of Sale see Page 68.

RHODODENDRON HYBRIDS

With their large heads of flowers, varying in shades of bright crimson, pink or white, these are among our most striking of flowering shrubs. When not in bloom, the dark evergreen leaves give pleasing foliage effects. Many of the hybrids are not suitable as far north as this and we have selected and grown those of Rhododendron catawbiense parentage which have proved hardy. In planting, mix the soil with peat or leafmold, which has an acid reaction and is retentive of moisture during the summer. Heavy watering in the late Fall will provide the plants with sufficient sap to carry them through the dormant winter period.

MALUS — The Flowering Crab-apples

This group of small trees, attaining a height of eight to twenty feet, is one of the most satisfactory for northern New England. A wealth of bloom in May, varying from pure white to bright scarlet, is followed by another season of color in the fall, when the small fruits of yellow or red, lasting until freezing weather, provide very welcome food for the birds. For late transplanting, after about May 1st, these should be dug with a ball of earth. Extra charge for balling 3 ft. size 90 cents; 4 ft. size $1.25; 5 ft. size $1.75; 6 ft. size $2.50; 7 ft. size $3.00.

FOR LATE SPRING AND EARLY FALL PLANTING

The prices of Deciduous Shrubs other than those specified "B. & B." are for plants dug with bare roots. Between May 15th and October 15th when the plants are in leaf, shrubs may be dug with a ball of earth and burlapped. This assures less wilting and delay in growth. The additional cost for handling in this way will be:

Fruit Trees

The home grounds are scarcely complete without some fruit trees. The flavor of fruit ripened on the plant has a delicacy which more than compensates for the care expended in cultivation.

Our list comprises varieties which we believe are satisfactory for this latitude.

Fruit trees, except Apples and Pears, should be planted in the Spring only.

APPLES

Summer Varieties

Red Astrachan — One of the early reds. Very rich and juicy. Flesh slightly acid.

Fall Varieties

Cortland — One of the McIntosh seedlings, resembling the McIntosh a great deal and even a better keeper.

Gravenstein — An old-time favorite, extra fine. Of large size with a delicate striping of yellow and red.

Hyslop Crab — Very hardy strong growing variety that bears enormous crops of bright red fruit.

McIntosh — Bright red with crisp white flesh. One of the best eating apples.

Winter Varieties

Baldwin — An old New England favorite. Deep red and of good size. Keeps well through the winter.

Delicious — A choice winter apple with a sprightly aroma and as its name implies is really delicious in taste.

Northern Spy — Large, yellow, heavily striped red. Flesh crisp and juicy.

DWARF APPLES

These are grafted on Malling roots which produce dwarf trees, and bear at an earlier age. Valuable for home grounds where space is limited.

Roses

In our northern climate, roses must be selected with a thought for hardiness and vigor as well as the bright color effects desired in the garden. Our list covers a wide range of color and we have found these to be vigorous. In this latitude the plants should be protected for the winter by heaping earth around them and then covering with a mulch so that they are covered six inches deep. In the spring prune back to live wood.

All our Roses are potted in generous-sized containers. In planting, slit the paper pot leaving the earth intact and plant about three inches deeper. They will then be well established to grow rapidly for bloom in June and throughout the summer. Our potted Roses will not be ready for planting in your garden before May 10th when they will be in leaf and bud. We would suggest, however, that you place your order early so that we may reserve for you the kinds you would like.

As roses need more aftercare than flowering shrubs, we cannot be responsible for their growth after they leave the nursery and any complaints must be made within ten days after being received.

We may be out of certain kinds and will substitute varieties similar in color unless otherwise directed. Please advise us if you do not wish substitutes.

We do not recommend the fall planting of roses for this latitude.

HYBRID TEA ROSES

These will give an abundance of bloom from June until frost. They should be liberally fertilized every year and given some protection from the sun and frost during the winter.

Peonies

Wherever one desires continuing bloom year after year from plants in the garden, we recommend the planting of Peonies. Hardy in almost all parts of this country and Canada, the vigor of the plants and the wealth of blooms in their lovely shades of white, pink and rich reds give delightful effects both in the garden and as cut flowers. When once established, the plants increase in size and quality for many years and need not be disturbed. They will persist in many localities where other perennials fail to grow and their increasing use testifies to their popularity.

Peonies are especially decorative as cut flowers and many amateur enthusiasts give thousands every year to churches and hospitals.

We have endeavored to consistently maintain our free-blooming Cherry Hill Strain by selective propagation and the large, vigorous plants which we furnish give satisfactory results.

Culture of Peonies

Peonies will grow in almost any location, but do best when not planted too near large trees. However, where they are given some shade from the hot afternoon sun, the delicate colors may be retained. A good garden soil of loamy texture, where there is drainage, will produce satisfactory roots and flowers. In this type of soil, no especial preparation is necessary except to loosen and break up any lumps.

You may use any garden fertilizer available or bone meal. Wood ashes containing lime and potash have proved very satisfactory, The amount will be determined by the size of the plant, but a good handful is a rough measure. Too much rain may cause botrytis, a fungus which causes the stems to wilt and turn black. We find that ground limestone is one of the best correctives and this may be used freely. The diseased stems should be burned.

The roots should be planted so that the buds are about two inches below the surface when the ground is settled around them. Too deep planting will result in good foliage but no blooms. This is usually the cause for lack of blooms. Do not attempt to replant Peonies in soil where they have grown before, and if the same location is desired, the earth should be removed and replaced by fresh earth from another part of the garden. When the buds attain about an inch in size, they exude a sticky honey which is attractive to ants, but these seldom do harm and will disappear in a short time.

Peonies may be successfully planted at almost any time of the year, but are most easily handled in the spring before the buds have pushed through the ground. The first season will not produce large and often not typical blooms. They should be treated as permanent plants and will grow and thrive from ten to twenty years in one location.

SHIPPING CHARGES

When shipping Peonies, we cut off the tops leaving compact plants. Except in large quantities these may usually be sent by parcel post more cheaply than by express. If you wish your order shipped in this way, please include 25 cents for the first root and 10 cents for each additional root. We will pack the plants securely with moist material so that they will arrive in a fresh condition ready to be put in your garden. Larger shipments may be sent express collect.

ANNISQUAM PEONY
One Of Our New Introductions

NEW INTRODUCTIONS

For many years we have been growing new peonies from seed pollenized by the best known varieties. We have observed these carefully for blooming qualities and have discarded those which did not measure up to our highest standard. The ones listed below are, we believe, of merit and will hold their place in any garden.

Arthur H. Fewkes — A variety originated by the late Arthur H. Fewkes and named by his family. Strong stems of medium height. Wide petals of fine form and texture, ivory white with salmon shadings at base of petals which give a buff or salmon light throughout the flower. Late. $15.00.

Amberglow — Strong upright stems of medium height bearing dark green leaves which have a peculiar fluted effect. The bud is delicate pink and the flower globular, flesh pink with salmon lights. Late but opens well and is noticeable for its delicate coloring and crisp freshness. $4.00

Annisquam — Large globular blooms of tender pink which retain their coloring until the petals fall. The petals are broad and rounded forming a cupped-shaped flower of smooth attractive appearance. Good both as a cut flower and for garden use. Pleasant fragrance. Mid-season. We consider this one of our finest introductions. $20.00.

Magnolia (Japanese type) — Bright rose-pink with overlapping petals. Center of enlarged stamens of chrome-yellow which are crusted with golden yellow. Strong vigorous growth. Extra good for garden effects. $2.50

Rapture — Very large, the outer petals broad and rounded, center petals shorter giving the blooms a cupped effect. Pure white suffused with a creamy light. Pleasant fragrance. Mid-season. $15.00.

Summer Cloud — Faint pink buds open into well-formed flowers with wide outer petals of white and center of narrower petals having a creamy light. Long, strong stems. We consider this to be superior to Kelway's Glorious. Midseason. $4.00.

White Gull (Japanese type) — A double row of broad rounded petals of white surround a cushion of yellow stamens. Red stigmas. Much admired by all who have seen it. $3.00.

DOUBLE-FLOWERING PEONIES

For your convenience we have listed these according to color.

Prices quoted are for strong, healthy plants with at least three to five buds.

For two-year clumps, add 50%.

For three-year clumps, double the price.

Price per ten is 10% less than the single rate. Priced at $1.50 each our charge is $13.50 per 10.

For shipping charges see Pages 42 and 43.

The number following each name is the percentage rating given by the American Peony Society.

We grow and test many varieties, listing those which seem most desirable. If you do not find the variety you wish, ask us as we have many not listed.

*Varieties in this class we have found to be the best and most reliable for color and free-blooming quality. We recommend these if you are in doubt as to selection.

Single Peonies

For shipping charges see Pages 42 and 43

Prices quoted are for strong, healthy plants with at least three to five buds.

Two-year clumps, add 50%.

Three-year clumps at double price.

Price per ten is 10% less than the single rate. Priced at $1.50 each our charge is $13.50 per 10

The number following each name is the percentage rating given by the American Peony Society.

The single flowered varieties are the first to bloom, but the side buds will continue to bloom over a considerable season. They are especially satisfactory for garden effects as they withstand the rains and wind where the heavier doubles might be beaten down. The large yellow centers of stamens give a distinct note.

- Clairette 8.1 — Long arching stems bearing large pure white flowers. The petals are long and silky. $1.50.
- Helen 8.9 — A Cherry Hill production. Stems very tall and erect with broad foliage. A double row of broad, cupped petals of deep shell-pink surround a mass of golden stamens. The earliest to bloom. $1.50.
- Le Jour — Large pure white, petals of good substance and a fine variety. $2.00.
- L'Etincelante 8.4 — Broad petals of bright pink with silvery borders. Especially attractive in the garden. $1.50.
- Mellen Knight 8.4 — Strong erect stems bearing rich crimson flowers with golden centers. The petals are smooth and rounded. $1.50.

- The Bride 8.4 — Large, white flowers borne on strong stems. A fine variety. $1.50.
- Victoria — Brilliant crimson flowers which glow in the sun. Foliage dark green $1.00.

Japanese Type Peonies

For shipping charges see Pages 42 and 43

Prices quoted are for strong, healthy plants with at least three to five buds.

Two-year clumps, add 50%.

Three-year clumps at double price.

Price per ten is 10% less than the single rate. Priced at $1.50 each our charge is $13.50 per 10.

The number following each name is the percentage rating given by the American Peony Society.

These so-called Japanese Peonies which have been grown in this country are those which have one or two rows of petals and centers of stamens much thickened. These latter are almost devoid of pollen and in some varieties make thick cushions of golden yellow. In others the stamens are self-color tipped or crusted with yellow. The effects are beautiful and distinct and are charming for the garden and as cut flower decorations.

VARIETIES NOT LISTED

We have many other kinds not listed. Should you wish any special variety, we will quote you if available.

ASSORTED COLLECTIONS

For those who wish a collection without names, we can furnish a very good assortment in our selection of colors in two grades — $4.00 and $6.00 per dozen. If marked to color such as red, pink or white, in any assortment you select, at $7.50 per dozen. They are all good varieties and would be worth much more if sold to name.

In Japanese-type Peonies we can furnish two grades in a mixture of colors. $5.00 and $7.50 per dozen.

For shipping charges see Pages 42 and 43.

Phlox

For masses of color in the garden or border in summer and early fall, there is nothing more satisfactory than Phlox. The newer varieties have been selected for their clear coloring — bright scarlet reds, clear pinks, soft lavenders and purples avoiding magenta. These with white give pleasing color combinations.

Phlox should be planted in well-drained, fertile soil and thinned every three or four years. This allows more air drainage and overcomes the tendency for the lower leaves to mildew. Dusting the foliage with sulphur is also one of the best methods of prevention. Pick off the faded blooms before the seed ripens. This allows the plant to make a second flowering and prevents seedlings springing up and choking the parent plants. Seedlings are usually inferior in color and cause much confusion.

40 cents each; $3.50 per ten except as noted.

Five plants of one variety will be furnished at the ten rate

Border Queen — Dwarf, midseason. Large heads with unusually large florets of watermelon-pink.

Charles Curtis — Medium height, midseason. Large heads of brilliant crimson-red. Effective color note in the border. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

Daily Sketch — Medium height, late mid-season. Extra large flowers of brilliant salmon-pink with darker eye.

E. I. Farrington — Medium height, midseason. Salmon-pink with deeper center.

Europa — Medium height. Midseason. Large broad heads. White with distinct carmine eye.

Mary Louise (Saunders) — Tall, late. We introduced this variety some years ago and it is now considered to be the best white phlox. Well-formed heads bearing large, waxy white flowers of great beauty.

Miss Lingard (P. suffruticosa) — Dark glossy green foliage and medium-height stems. White with a faint pink eye. Flowers early and intermittently throughout the summer.

Mountain Laurel — Tall, midseason. The delicate, shell-pink flowers borne in broad heads remind one of the pink Mountain Laurel.

Salmon Beauty (Eva Foerster) — Dwarf, midseason. Large flowers of bright salmon pink with white centers.

Spitfire (Frau von Mauthner) — Medium bright, late. Large heads of brilliant salmon orange with small crimson eye. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

Irís

The bearded Iris have a wide range of color, their various tints and hues embracing all colors of the rainbow. They are hardy and easy to grow, continuing for years with almost no attention. Liberal use will produce masses of bloom making a most colorful garden through May and June.

We are constantly adding new varieties which we consider have intrinsic worth and discarding those which are superseded.

The old leaves and stalks should be cleaned off and burned to leave no harboring place for disease or pests.

Five of one variety will be furnished at the ten rate

EFFECTIVE PLANTING MAKES AN ATTRACTIVE HOME

Perennials

Herbaceous perennials form one of the most important parts of the garden or border as they continue to increase in size and beauty from year to year. A selection will give bloom throughout the season.

There is such an immense range of species and varieties that we do not attempt to grow them all and offer those which have proved the most hardy and satisfactory for these climatic conditions. We are constantly trying new varieties and adding those of merit.

Strong Field Grown Plants are priced at 40 cents each; $3.50 per ten as noted.

Five or more of one variety will be furnished at the ten rate.

Landscape Department

Often you are in doubt as to the plants to use for the beautification of your home grounds.

For those who would like help in the matter, we have a competent staff who have had many years experience with the planning for the arrangement of the different trees and shrubs in their most suitable places.

We are always glad to help you in any way possible no matter how small the problem.

Telephone or write for an appointment (a few days in advance if possible) and we will gladly give you any estimates or suggestions that you may wish.

PLANTING

On large orders of trees in the larger sizes where the home owner cannot plant alone or obtain help in planting, we can, when previously arranged for, plant the stock we furnish. The plantsmen we can supply have had many years of experience at this work.

MAINTENANCE AND CARE

Evergreens and shrubs, when planted near the house, will in a few years, grow too large for the space assigned them and will mar the effect which was originally intended. Instead of waiting until they are too large and then pruning them drastically, it is much better to give them a light pruning every year. By this method no large branches are cut and the planting will continue for many years improving in value and appearance. We have men available in the summer and winter months and the cost is slight when compared with the results obtained.

Especially near the house, the soil is often dry and lacking in plant food, and it is better to make a light application of fertilizer every year rather than too much at one time.

LARGE TREES

Large specimen trees may be moved with safety at almost any time of the year. The modern method of digging with a large ball of earth on the roots ensures the continuous flow of sap through the fine feeding roots. Trees handled in this manner usually continue to grow without any check and make immediate landscape effects. They may be planted with our special tree moving equipment even when the ground is frozen in the winter. If arranged for earlier this is an economical time.

The use of a few large specimens with the smaller plants gives very pleasing and satisfactory effects. We have growing a large variety of specimens which we can furnish, and are prepared to give you estimates on your needs without obligation on your part. You are cordially invited to visit the nurseries and see the quality of the trees and plants at Cherry Hill.

GIFT CERTIFICATES

We are prepared to issue Gift Certificates, redeemable by us. This certificate will bear the recipient's name and yours as donor. For anyone interested in a garden or planting the home grounds this makes a very acceptable Christmas or Anniversary gift.

For those interested in plants and flowers, we would recommend the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. Membership makes available all important books on gardening, lectures, the publication of Horticulture, etc. The annual membership is $4.00. Apply to the Secretary, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, Horticultural Hall, Boston 15, Mass.

Conditions of Sale

All stock is freshly dug on orders and this insures all stock being in the best possible shape when delivered to you.

We guarantee all our stock to be true to name and will replace any that proves other than represented or refund the purchase price. Beyond that, we can give no further warranty, as we cannot control planting conditions, weather and after-care.

One to four plants of a single size and variety at the each rate; five to twenty-four at the ten rate; twenty-five or more at the hundred rate when such rate is given. These prices apply to our usual first grade stock, but when a tree or plant of outstanding quality is selected, a special price is charged.

Terms: charge accounts for thirty days' credit may be opened by new customers giving satisfactory bank or trade references, but to those unknown to us, we ask for cash with order.

All prices for stock are here at the Nursery, and packing on large plants will be charged at cost. We are equipped to make truck delivery on full loads throughout New England and the surrounding territory at a cost which in most cases is not greater than the combined cost of packing, freight or express. This is a very satisfactory method as plants are delivered fresh, directly to the planting site. On smaller orders, less than a full truck load, we can usually make combination load deliveries within a radius of 40 miles of the nursery, the cost being divided depending on the size of the order. These, of course, cannot be delivered on any specified date. All plants, however, not balled will be packaged or wrapped so that if the customer is not there on arrival, they will keep safely for several days.

Due to modern methods of handling, the transplanting season has been greatly extended. Our spring season usually commences the last of March or early April and continues through June during which time almost all plants may be safely moved. Our fall season starts with the planting of evergreens and perennials in late July and deciduous material from October until the ground freezes. Large trees are economically moved in winter with frozen balls of earth.

Owing to the uncertainty of supplies, we reserve the right to change prices without notice.
